

Investment Incentives

One of the factors influencing the investor's decision where to place the investment is undoubtedly the volume and structure of the available investment support.

Slovak Republic provides various forms of support for incoming investors, but also for established companies. The main objective is to attract investments that are positively reflected in creation of new jobs, opportunities for graduates' employment, as well as the creation of new business opportunities for local companies. The activity of companies in the field of research and development is highly valued and therefore the Slovak Republic provides support for companies in this area.
